

The World Bank

The Finance & Markets Global Practice and the Development Research Department of the World Bank invites you to attend the 12th Overview Course of Financial Sector Issues to be held at The World Bank Group Headquarters in Washington, DC, May 4 to May 8, 2015.

The theme of the 2015 Overview Course of Financial Sector Issues is Building Financial Sectors that Support Development. This training aims at providing a solid knowledge of the fundamentals of key areas of the financial sector and at engaging in discussions of emerging issues of relevance for policy-makers. This will help participants better understand how to build financial sectors that promote development. Throughout the week-long course participants will have opportunities to ask questions and engage in discussions with renowned scholars and policy experts, who will identify the critical questions related to each topic, explore the analytics of the issues, and share lessons from various countries' experiences. Invited thought leaders include Viral Acharya (Stern School of Business, New York University), Thorsten Beck (Cass Business School and Tilburg University), Charles Calomiris (Columbia University Graduate School of Business), Simon Johnson (MIT and Peterson Institute for International Economics), and Anthony Saunders (Stern School of Business, New York University), among others. The course will be in English.

To obtain more information about the course, please visit the Overview Course Event Website. You can either fill out the attached registration form or fill out the attached registration form and send it to Paul@ifc.org. The registration fee is US$1,500, which covers all course materials plus admission to all seminar sessions. Travel, accommodations, and other expenses are not included, and are the responsibility of each participant. If you have any questions, please contact Ms. Harminder Paul by e-mail: Paul@ifc.org or by telephone: +1 202 458 7702.

We hope you are interested in this program, and look forward to your participation.
