- ▶ The reforms have significantly impacted lending rates, leading to a notable reduction in inflation and an acceleration in foreign exchange market development. As a result, the fiscal position has notably improved, driven by higher revenues and reduced capital expenditures.
- ▶ The government passed a major reform, which strengthened competition law. Progress was made on commercial justice and insolvency measures, but business creation has become more costly.
- ▶ New mechanisms were adopted for planning for the lean season, food security response, and better coordination of funds.
- ▶ Policy action is needed on legal and judicial system reforms, executive compliance with the rule of law, and enhancing the quality of public administration.
